

Econ 425; Week 9

Support Vector Machines

Manu Navjeevan

March 2, 2021

1 Introduction

Up to now, we have approached classification using “generative” models. That is models that generate predicted probabilities and use these to classify new observations as a member of a class.

Implicitly, however, our probability